

XYZ Company

Employee Policies & Workplace Guidelines

Document Type: Internal Company Policy

Version: 2.0

Effective Date: January 1, 2026

1. Purpose

This policy handbook defines the basic workplace rules and expectations for employees of XYZ Company. The purpose is to create a professional, respectful, secure, and productive working environment.

2. Working Hours and Attendance

The standard working schedule is Monday through Friday, from 9:30 AM to 6:30 PM. Employees are expected to be available during core hours from 10:00 AM to 5:00 PM. Employees working remotely must remain reachable through approved communication tools during working hours.

If an employee expects to be late or absent, they should inform their reporting manager as early as possible. Repeated unexplained absences or attendance issues may result in corrective action.

3. Leave Policy

XYZ Company provides paid annual leave, sick leave, and approved public holidays. Employees should submit planned leave requests through the company's designated HR system whenever possible.

For planned leave of more than three consecutive working days, employees should normally submit the request at least seven calendar days in advance. Emergency or sick leave should be communicated to the manager as soon as practical.

4. Remote Work Policy

Eligible employees may work remotely when permitted by their team and role. Remote employees are responsible for maintaining a suitable workspace, protecting company information, attending scheduled meetings, and meeting agreed deadlines.

5. Information Security

Employees must protect confidential company information, customer data, credentials, source code, financial records, and internal documents. Passwords must not be shared with other people. Sensitive files should only be stored in company-approved systems.

Employees must report suspected security incidents, phishing attempts, accidental data exposure, or lost company devices to the IT or security team promptly.

6. Acceptable Use of Company Resources

Company laptops, accounts, software licenses, cloud services, and network resources are primarily provided for business purposes. Limited personal use may be acceptable when it does not interfere with work, violate company policy, or create a security risk.

7. Code of Conduct

All employees are expected to communicate respectfully and behave professionally. XYZ Company does not tolerate harassment, discrimination, bullying, threats, or deliberate intimidation in the workplace or through company communication channels.

8. Confidentiality

Employees may have access to confidential business information. Such information must not be disclosed to unauthorized individuals or used for personal benefit. Confidentiality obligations may continue after an employee leaves the company.

9. Expense Reimbursement

Reasonable business expenses may be reimbursed when they are approved and supported by appropriate receipts or documentation. Employees should normally submit expense claims within 30 days of the expense date.

10. Performance Reviews

Employees may receive periodic performance feedback from their managers. Reviews may consider job responsibilities, quality of work, collaboration, reliability, communication, and progress toward agreed objectives.

11. Learning and Development

XYZ Company encourages employees to improve their professional skills. Depending on role and business requirements, the company may provide access to training programs, workshops, technical courses, conferences, or learning platforms.

12. Disciplinary Process

Policy violations may result in corrective or disciplinary action depending on the nature and severity of the issue. Possible actions include coaching, written warnings, suspension, or termination, subject to applicable law and company procedures.
